Dear (soon to be) Hazel Class!

Well, firstly, I just want to say that I'm really excited to be moving up into Year 5 with you! It's a big step and with it comes big responsibilities. I've been so proud of you all this year, in particular: how we have each responded to the individual challenges in our learning; how we have all supported and worked well with our partners; and especially, the way in which we cared and thoughtfully looked after our friends. You are all amazing and we are going to need all these qualities as we face our new challenges on the horizon.

You all deserve a lovely summer break. It is really important to stop for a moment, relax with friends and family and recharge our batteries. Of course, I do hope that you will be able to keep some of your fantastic learning behaviours going over the summer. I can't overstate the importance of reading or being read to. It's so beneficial to our brains and we need to do it every day to keep our minds fresh for next year. I'm also mindful that because we have not been in the classroom for such a long time we naturally have not been doing as much writing as we normally would have. My request is for you to try your best to write a little over the holidays. This might be in the form of a diary, a book review, or maybe even a little project you have created and researched. It is up to you but practising a little over the holidays will set you up ready for the Autumn Term.

Our first topic as a class will be on Ancient Greece so if you want to get a head start and research and write a little about that then that would be wonderful also. I'll also load up SpellingFrame work for you to access and practice.

Have a wonderful summer and I can't wait to see you all next term.

Warmest wishes,

Mr Russell
